THE FOLLOWING INFORMATION APPLIES TO THE VINYL EURO-DOR™ LINE OF PRODUCTS:

VINYL DOORS

Fimbel Architectural Door Specialties vinyl doors are constructed with the highest quality vinyl materials which are not affected by moisture and will not suffer the damage that moisture causes. They are also impervious to salt and insects and thus offer the homeowner a door constructed to last for years in the harshest of environments.

In order to ensure years of trouble free performance, the face of the Eur-dor is UV-resistant and may be left in its natural white color. If painting is desired, all that is necessary is to clean the surface and paint. Use warm water and soap to clean the surface; do NOT use a petroleum product such as paint thinner or any other solvent. Cleaners such as Soft-Scrub, Bathroom Tub and Tile Cleaner, Scrubbing Bubbles, all dishwashing liquids, etc. are appropriate choices.

Since plastic expands and contracts greatly with temperature changes, understanding how color affects vinyl doors is critical. If painting the doors a DARK color, expansion and contraction could affect a vinyl door's performance. Darker colors absorb more heat energy and will cause the door to expand in length and height, possibly beyond the limits permitted for proper function of the door. As a bare minimum, the expansion could cause the door to bow outward and affect its cosmetic appearance. There are paints available on the market specifically engineered for use with vinyl products that permit dark colors to be used without the concern for thermal expansion. The paint we recommend when using dark colors on our vinyl doors is Sherwin-Williams VINYLSAFE™ Paint. Use of this paint will ensure that the door does not expand excessively, as even the darker colors reflect the heat energy, rather than absorb it. You must go to a Sherwin-Williams paint store and request to see the VINYLSAFE™ color chart to choose your color.

If a standard (non- VINYLSAFE™) exterior grade latex paint is used, it must be within a color range that does not absorb excessive heat energy, and thus eliminates the ability to use darker colors. Choose high quality EXTERIOR LATEX paint, making sure that the color chosen has an LRV (Light Reflective Value) of 65 or above. Painting the door dark colors (LRV BELOW 65) in a non VINYLSAFE™ or equivalent product will void the warranty. A list of Sherwin-Williams standard exterior paint colors with LRVs of 65 and above is attached to assist the owner with proper paint selection. If paint other than the ones on the attached list is used, regardless of the manufacturer, it must be verified that the LRV is 65 or ABOVE or else the warranty will be void.

Again, if a VINYLSAFE™ color is chosen from the VINYLSAFE™ pallet from Sherwin-Williams, colors other than the ones on the attached list (over) may be used which includes many dark colors.
